Star of the week

Lola Sullock for her mature attitude in the classroom and using a positive mindset towards her learning.

Dear All,

It really has been fabulous to welcome back all the children this week and I am really enjoying teaching everyone in the new Croft Class. We have already had some lively discussions about our learning and look forward to more.

This week has focussed on settling in, reminding ourselves of our school vision and values and having a little think about how they can help us make good decisions in school. We have been able to enjoy the weather at the beginning of the week and use the adventure playground. It is interesting to see the seasons change and the children are looking forward to the plums ripening and enjoying eating them. We have spotted many butterflies which festooned the buddleia growing in the vegetable patch. We were even lucky enough to have a little visitor leap onto the jumper of Fleur, a rather large bush cricket. So we were all able to take a good look.

We also drew portraits of our partners and produced some fabulous drawings. The children then wrote acrostics to highlight all our positive qualities. We will put these on display in the classroom to remind us that we all have special qualities.

We have spent some time this week thinking about mindsets and how we can approach challenges. We learnt that a positive mindset will embrace a challenge even if it means making mistakes. We discovered that making mistakes is actually a good thing because we can learn more and it helps our brains grow new connections.

Have a lovely Weekend
Miss Wright
